Hello Mrs Novello this is Michael Heba, I'm Alan's friend from our Garfield school days. I used to stop by every morning to meet up with Alan & we'd walk to school together. I always remember the smell of cooking in the house. You made some great breakfasts for Alan & I'm sure Roy too. Hey Roy I remember you too. What I remember most was your homemade pizza, you used sliced tomatoes instead of sauce and you introduced me to oregano. My family is Polish & they didn't use oregano. I liked it. I also remember the awning with the " N " I still see it every day so the memories will never end. Congratulations on reaching 100 years and now you're at peace. To the whole Novello family & especially my long time friend Alan I want to offer my sympathy and share my memories of Carmella.
