I was shocked and saddened to hear of Carolyn's passing. We were friends via Facebook, over the last few months we would message each other nearly every day, talking about every day things including our love for our pets. Carolyn was a great support to me after the loss of my pet recently. Although we never met face to face, we used to laugh as we had so much in common and how similar our lives were. I'm going to miss our online conversations. Sending my condolences to her husband David and family members.
