I am Patsy's daughter. I am sorry for your loss. Mom has been in a nursing home since shortly after they got together last. (2002?) She has Alzheimers so I don't know if she will "connect" with the loss. I'm glad that she was happy about the last visit. It's too bad the disease hit so bad so they couldn't continue to keep in touch. It is hard to offer condolences to someone you don't know. But as we have all lost family members, I can say it is never easy. My thoughts and prayers are with you.
