I will always remember playing dress up in your guest bedroom and you painting my nails, spending time together during the holidays and taking Buddy and Snoopy on walks. I am fortunate that I have many fond memories to carry with me and share with my children. I will miss you always, but am grateful you are reunited with Rich and resting easy. With love and hugs, Stephanie

My last words to you were that I'd never forget you. I'll keep that promise. Because as Helen Keller said, "what we once enjoyed and deeply loved we can never lose, for all that we love deeply becomes part of us. You are now a part of us and we will carry you with our heads held high. For you would want it that way.
