Fred,I was so saddened to hear the news of your passing. After meeting as classmates in dental school, you quickly became one of my very best friends in life. You had such a passion for life in general, but even more so for sports. We competed in, watched, and breathed every sport we could. You loved your Pittsburgh teams! I'll never forget going to see the Penguins with you and Scinico and almost getting beat up by angry Blues fans. There are too many great memories to list. When I was with you Fred, you made life all the more exciting and fun. I will miss you very much. Thank you for being my friend.

Was shocked to hear the news of your passing. I'll always remember your zest for life and adventurous soul! You were always going, going, going with endless energy. I still have the video of you jumping off the Stratosphere with Nate. You gleefully yelled like a kid as you jumped from 800 feet in the air as I watched you both petrified from below. You truly lived this life. Prayers to your family and loved ones.

I spent one of the most exciting nights of my life jumping off the Stratosphere in Vegas with Dr. Fabi. Honestly one of the purest souls I have ever encountered. The world has lost a really good one, but hopefully for those of us left behind, he taught us a little bit about living life to its fullest each and every day. God Speed Brother!

Heavenly Father, thank you for bringing Fred into my life. He was a friend, a co worker, a coach, and part of my family. He always called me, Aunt Laura and I am very proud of that. Fred included me in many planned outings and adventures. From 50 mile bike rides, to rafting trips, to parasailing, to races like this sound to Narrows race, were Fred, who easily completed the race was there supporting and coaching me not to quit but to complete and pass the finish line. It was tough but I made it. Life is an adventure, and God sent me Fred, who help me step out of my comfort zone, conquering my challenges, and seeing the importance of teamwork. A true gift from God. Thank you, Jesus, for cherished memories, I was so blessed! Aunt Laura.
